The Docent Report

The Docent Report is an online publication of the Docent Guild at the Richard Nixon Presidential Library and Museum in Yorba Linda. It is designed for the community and anyone interested in the Nixon Library and the role of Docents.

Applications are now being accepted for new Docents

With ever-growing interest in the new Richard Nixon Presidential Library and the increasing number of visitors, the Docent Guild needs more docents to tell the Nixon story and help visitors from around the world get the most out of their visit... Read the rest of the story

Do you wonder what a Docent does?

See what happens when it's Showtime! The doors open and the day begins. There are so many ways a Docent can contribute to the Library. As a community service this is a great volunteer activity... Read the rest of the story

Docents walk the walk and talk the talk

NARA, the National Archives and Records Administration, and the Richard Nixon Foundation have provided a tremendously rich environment at the Nixon Library for Docents to relate the Nixon heritage. From the new galleries to the birthplace, to the East Room, Docents are the grease that make the wheels turn... Read the rest of the story

What drives today's Docents to stay with the Library year after year?

We asked Docents what they like best about the time they spend meeting with the public at the Library. Some have many years of service, others are relatively new. Some are retired, some still employed. They live all over Orange Country, some in LA and Riverside Counties. What they all have in common is a passion to tell the Nixon story. What motivates and satisfies them?... Read the rest of the story

You may be thinking about becoming a Docent but want more information

Becoming a Docent is easier than you think. All necessary materials are provided during an orientation session, after which it is requested that you complete training within a 8-week timeframe. For an in depth look at the process and qualifications go to www.nixondocents.org/become-a-docent

Focus on the Gardens -- a visitor favorite

The gardens that anchor the Library are a source of pleasure to the visitors whether they are gardeners or not... Read the rest of the story

Our photo gallery of Docents on-the-job

Real people, your neighbors, making a real difference... Read the rest of the story

But wait there's more--Look at these upcoming events

Some very special events are always happening at the Library... Read the rest of the story
